Elks to Attend Big Doings at Santa Rosa

A large delegation of Richmond Elks will attend the big entertainment to be given by Santa Rosa lodge next Sunday. The Santa Rosans will put on a big barbecue and make "things interesting" for their guests.

Some June Rain

Thomas Carneal, foreman of the present grand jury, is in town from Tassajara today, and in speaking of the present June rain, recalled that in June 1896 there was a six inch fall of rain, which almost completely destroyed the hay crop of that year.—Gazette.

Believes in Quick Action

S. C. Cutler of Walnut Creek was the first person to organize a "Harding for President Club," following the Chicago convention. Cutler began soliciting for signers a few hours after the nomination of Harding was flashed from Chicago. Cutler is a well known rancher of the east end of Contra Costa county.

Hylas Baldwin, 10th street pupil, is spending his vacation profitably and having a good time besides. He is working in a cannery at Walnut Creek. He writes The Terminal that he is a little lonesome; that the girls over there are scarce.

District Attorney Will Orate on the Fourth

General Chairman Charles F. Donnelly of the Fourth of July committee has secured District Attorney A. B. Tinning to deliver the oration on the Fourth.

Queen to Be Crowned at Nightfall

Arrangements have been completed for the Fourth of July program, no changes being made by the committee except the crowning of the contest queen. This event will take place Saturday night, July 3, instead of at noon.

Elks vs. Marines

The program of sports will start at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, July 3. A baseball game between the Elks and the Marines will be one of the attractions.

Krueckel Is Here

A. Krueckel, land and real estate salesman, is now a resident of Richmond, having engaged in business at 422 Macdonald with J. B. Baldwin. Krueckel is the man who puts over the big deals, and will take advantage of the active stir in realty circles in this locality.

RANDOM COMMENT

John D. Rockefeller Jr. is registered at the Fairmont, San Francisco. He will stay about two weeks and may speak on the inter-church movement.

The woman who lost a purse containing several thousand dollars worth of diamonds in a Berkeley showhouse, has recovered the "sparks," and received the free advertising. The lost diamonds plan of advertising is a keen way.

The White House of San Francisco has announced the closing of the store Saturdays, giving the several hundred employees a chance to spend the week end at the summer resorts.

There will be a large turnout from the Eastbay cities to assist Richmond in celebrating the Fourth of July. The parade of floats alone will be worth coming miles to witness.

Preliminary Work On Eastbay Terminals to Begin

Rufus P. Jennings, who plans to develop the Berkeley waterfront until it is one of the greatest terminals, says filling-in will be well under way in six months. With the first unit filled in, the work will progress rapidly.

The filling-in and construction of the first unit, 1600 feet from the present shore line, a quarter of a mile north of University avenue, extending out 2 1/4 miles on one side and 2 1/8 miles on the other, will give the first unit dimensions 3000 feet wide and about 3000 feet within the government pier head-line.

This proposed extensive waterfront improvement has stimulated building, and scores of cottages are being constructed near both the Berkeley and Albany sites.

Representatives of eastern firms are arriving nearly every day, preparing to establish Pacific Coast branches.

Councilman Schmidt of Berkeley says by another year the work will be so far advanced that development will then move along swiftly.

The Progressive Tailors

Don't order that new suit of clothes until you have examined the Progressive Tailors' display at 324 Macdonald avenue. Mr. Haas, who is in charge there, is one of the best tailors on the coast, and his customers are increasing rapidly. Give him a call.

"Bust-Head Grappa"

The blind pig craze is said to be increasing from the county line to Richmond. Some of the "wet goods" are said to contain a most vigorous kick, followed by "hot coppers" and a terrific "bust-head."

Women Delegates Figured at Chicago

One of the features for which the convention just closed will long be remembered was the participation of the women. It is doubtful if they had any decisive part in the actual naming of the candidate, other than the few who were present as delegates. But women figured prominently on the minor committees, and they figured prominently in the oratorical efforts, and very much to their credit. At least one woman seconded the nomination of each of the candidates for the nomination for the presidency, and their speeches appealed to the audience because they were short and to the point. Women were active as workers around the headquarters of every candidate. They gave out red, blue and green feathers for General Wood, badges and pennants for Governor Lowden, served tea and cakes for Herbert Hoover, and did something of a like service for each of the candidates.

At General Wood's headquarters Mrs. Wood and her daughter had a handshake and a gracious word for every caller, but they refused at all times to talk politics. On the other hand the daughter of Nicholas Murray Butler was the real manager of her father's campaign.

Herbert Hoover at no time showed any strength in the balloting. For the first nine ballots his total vote was from four to six, and on the tenth ballot he polled nine votes. When his name was presented to the convention on Friday by Judge Miller of Syracuse, New York, a delegate from that state, he received a demonstration from the audience that was one of the marked and unusual features of the convention, but it was not joined in by any of the delegations. It was very evident that Hoover had no place in Republican politics.

Water at San Pablo Dam Will Soon Be Tapped

Water from San Pablo dam will soon be flowing through the subterranean tunnel in a few weeks. It is said the big reservoir now contains 80 feet of water, a supply of five billion gallons.

A 30-inch pipe is connected with the filtration plant at northeast Albany at the base of the Berkeley hills. This pipe line connects with the main at San Pablo avenue via Fairmont avenue.

The additional supply from the new source will give Richmond service equal to that of any of the bay cities.

Albany, Berkeley and Oakland and as far south as south Golden Gate avenue, will receive this service from the water supply at San Pablo dam.

It is said the new and increased water supply from the dam will be ready to serve in a few weeks, the testing out of the pipe lines now being executed under the supervision of Louis Farrell.

Richmond Sea Food Market

N. Asaro, who conducts the only real fish market in town at 510 Macdonald, is the place to go when one wants sea food of a good quality, always fresh and sweet. Mr. Asaro has been in the business 15 years, and knows how to handle seafood, as that is his exclusive specialty. Call and inspect this fine fish market.

Mrs. Wm. Isbell of Maywood, Ill., who visited the L. C. Streeters, former residents of Illinois, has returned to her eastern home. She was quite favorably impressed with the Golden State, and may become a permanent resident.

The Fourth Estate

(Contributed)
The Fourth Estate, some people say, is a state of mind with little pay. A state of anxious thought and care, finding its victim in a chair, where he may sit and think and dream. While his body may often freeze or steam, while his neighbor is prospering and often a man on this good boaster of their town.

He hatches schemes to bring them gold, while he's "half-dressed, unaided and cold. He waits for someone to give him a due. In order to purchase his family shoes. He waits for someone to advertise, and while he's waiting often lies Of virtues and traits he gives to men Who ought to languish in the "pen."

He boasts and brags about the dead, And sometimes then he drops his head And prays for God to forgive his soul And keep him on the honor roll. In all small towns in all this land Dwells one whom folks misunderstand, Because he's modest beyond degree, This prototype of you and me.

One reason he's in this fix Is because of rotten politics. He often boasts and helps a gang, When it often brings a hurting pang. He often helps elect a chap Who for reward returns a slap. He keeps all all others on the stage, While he is locked within a cage.

Of course he has himself to blame For never reaching after fame. He doesn't call his neighbor's bluff, He doesn't think of self enough. If he would but assert his rights, And shine along with other lights, Methinks he soon would learn to smile And find his calling well worth while.

He has an awful lot to sell, If he could learn his lesson well. His space is worth far more to men Than I can tell you with my pen; But he is slow to realize The ways to make men advise, And when they do to charge enough For you must surely "treat 'em rough."

He shouldn't print without his pay And should go dancing every day. And he should be as good as gold, For all his creditors have sold. Then he should keep his name in print In every issue, without stint. If advertising brings success Then use it for yourself to bless.

The secret of success, I think, For those who fool with printer's ink, Is to work like whiz from week to week Instead of playing "hide and seek." Send out a handsome, newsy sheet, So all will read it on the street. Stay on the job each day and night And you'll be sure to fare all right.

Los Angeles Shakes and Shivers With Temblors

(Special to The Richmond Terminal).
LOS ANGELES, June 24.—Although the "big show" is over, the shake-down of Tuesday being the climax, there are continued seismic disturbances still going on in the interior of mother earth in this locality.

One shock an hour is the record, and it is said that tourists are beating it for northern points.

Los Angeles has recently enjoyed one of the greatest tourist harvests in the history of the city, and feels that the present earthquakes, and their continuance from day to day, will have a tendency to drive tourists to the northern cities and counties where the bank clearance tables look more prosperous and the "climate" is cooler.

WELSH HONOR PATRON SAINT

March 1, St. David's Day, Set Apart as a Time for Celebration That Is County-Wide.

St. David's day is celebrated by the Welsh on March 1 in commemoration of the character and achievements of St. David, patron and titular saint of Wales. St. David is numbered as one of the "three canonized saints of Britain." He appears to have had more honors paid him in England than in his native country. He was termed "a mirror and pattern to all, instructing both by word and example, excellent in his preaching, but still more so in his works. He was a doctrine to all, a guide to the religious, a life to the poor, a support to orphans, a protection to widows, a father to the fatherless, a rule to monks, and a model to teachers; becoming all to all, so that he might gain all to God."

The leek, the emblem of Wales, is worn by the Welsh on St. David's day because of an order that is said to have been issued by St. David during the conflict between the Welshmen and the Saxons, commanding the Welshmen to put leeks into their hats to distinguish them from their enemies.

WHEN NEW YORK WAS YOUNG

Police Records Show That July 27, 1834, Might Be Called a Comparatively Dull Day.

Easy day for the police of New York when "there was no one committed at the watch returns; but in the course of the day recently three persons were brought up and sent to the bridewell."

That, of course, was not this week or last week, or last year, but years ago, according to a New York newspaper of that day, observes the New York Evening Sun. The three persons sent to the bridewell on July 27, 1834, were:

"John Morris, an Englishman, for rudely seizing Mrs. Hanson round the waist as she was walking to church with her husband."

"William Johnson, for being dreadfully abusive at Mrs. Henwick's soda water store, near Gouverneur market. He went in and destroyed all the glasses and decanters, and beat the daughter."

"A fire volunteer, for being concerned in a dreadful fight last evening, near Hugh Riley's porterhouse, corner of Leonard and Center streets."

VERY DRY.

"My poor man, how long have you been on this desert island?"
"Three years."
"We'll take you off on our ship."
"Have you a bar aboard?"
"No."

"Thank you, but I don't mind waiting another year or two."

Little Brown Men Will Overrun State

Albany Aerial Artists Are Touring the South

(Albany Argus)
The aerial Lavails are now touring the Southern cities, their dates including Washington, Baltimore, Knoxville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville, Memphis, Meridian, Shreveport, New Orleans and Houston, where they will show during July. The Lavails as aerial performers play the best show houses, and their acts catch on everywhere they perform.

The Lavails are enroute via the south to California and Albany, where they have a fine home on Adams street, and where the family reunion will take place on the arrival of the boys from the road.

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES.

Recently there was an explosion at a big car plant at Clarksville in which no one was hurt, says the Indianapolis News. The dome of a tank car was hurled through a roof and thrown several hundred feet. This story has to do with Big Boy, as he is known, acetylene welder, who was at work on the car. When those about caught their breath they looked around for Big Boy. He was seen some distance away crouched behind a pillar. Between him and the point where he had been working were several trucks loaded eight feet high, completely blocking the way—as it appeared. "Why, how did you get over this stuff here, Big Boy?" he was asked. "I never saw it at all," was his reply.

HE REMEMBERED THAT TOOTH

Member of American Consulate at London Quickly Satisfied as to His Visitor's Identity.

America has another George Washington in the front line of defense. The present bearer of that name is in the front line of passport trenches at the American consulate in London and is a negro. Ever since the United States put into force its rigid passport restrictions George has been one of the busiest Americans abroad.

Washington broke into the consular service some years ago at Marseilles. He fought in a regular regiment in the Spanish-American war, afterward coming to Europe in a Wild West show. Consul General Skinner, then stationed in Marseilles, gave Washington a job in the consulate. Then George went with Mr. Skinner to Berlin and finally he came back to London. He speaks French, German and Spanish.

Recently when an American negro comedian sought a vice Washington remembered him, but he remembered even better the diamond filling in one of the comedian's teeth. "Still got that diamond there?" Washington remarked as the man came into the consulate. The comedian smiled broadly and the diamond was there.—London Mail.

Japs Securing a Foot-hold, Says Gov. W. D. Stephens

(Special to The Richmond Terminal).
SACRAMENTO, June 24.—Governor Stephens in his appeal to Secretary of State Colby at Washington for federal action to check Japanese immigration, gives these startling figures as to the propagation and increase of the Japanese in the past ten years. He says that 20 years ago the Jap population was normal. Ten years ago the U. S. government census showed a Japanese population of 41,356 in California.

A survey and computation recently made by the state board of control shows that the population has been more than doubled, totaling 87,279.

These figures prove that California is supporting from 80 to 85 per cent of the entire Jap population of the United States.

Think of it. The Jap now operates 623,752 acres of the richest lands of California.

These significant figures prove what is in store for the white race in California if the little brown menace is not restricted from overrunning this country as they have the Hawaiian and other islands.

Lowsleys Arrive From Humboldt County

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lowsley, who formerly resided at 203 Bissell ave., arrived in Richmond yesterday from their ranch in Humboldt county, which is located at Orleans, 110 miles north of Eureka.

The Lowsleys motored north several months ago in search of health, Mrs. Lowsley being afflicted with asthma. They found the climate of Humboldt an excellent cure for Mrs. Lowsley's affliction. She has many friends her who will be glad to learn of her restoration to good health.

Joe says that it is no trick to go out before breakfast and catch a mess of trout, and that the deer graze around in his back yard which relieves him of the arduous duty of mowing the lawn. (That will do for you, Joe.)

UNION GOODS

When ordering your printing, ask the printer if he can furnish the union label, the "little tamale." If he cannot deliver, pass him up. He is either a novice or is trying to make good by pretending he is a printer. Non-union printing is "spotted" quickly in Richmond, because Richmond is 100 per cent union. The Terminal was the first printing office in Richmond to carry a union label.

BODY OF ALASKA MINER IS FOUND IN ESTUARY

Note Found in Hat on Wharf Tells of Worry Over a Woman

Alameda.—The body of Charles G. Brawn, an Alaska miner, was found floating in the estuary at the foot of Oak street Tuesday morning, June 15 by three boys. A piece of barbed wire was wrapped around his waist and his hands were beneath the wire. In his hat, which had been left on the wharf, was a note in which he said a girl named Amelia had refused to marry him. The note, which was addressed "to whom it may concern," follows:

"I am afraid there is something wrong about Amelia and I am so worried I am nearly dead.

"Amelia has bought the house at 2442 Twenty-third avenue, and I have sent money to help pay for it. It is in the name of Charles G. Brawn and Amelia Brawn, his wife. She had agreed to marry me, and now that I am here among her people she refuses and I can't tell them we are not married.

"She has got me to sell the place, and now I am afraid something is wrong with that. I don't know what to do. Have tried to do right. Was at the bank to cash a check on a payment and they acted funny. Amelia is all the time trying to get me to go away and not tell anyone.

"I can't understand what that means. It is terrible. Am about crazy. Am sure Amelia is trying to do something to me.

CHAS. G. BRAWN.
Am so nearly crazy I can't think.

Woman's Letter Found

A letter found among the man's belongings, written in a woman's hand follows:

"I have to borrow money to get things and what do I get in return from you? You say you will look me out. You have the house. Sell it if you want, as long as I can't buy it from you. You have all it brings, besides you can never gain anything from me by any threats and bluffs. I would pack everything I owned and move them to a storehouse the first time I ever got locked out. I found my breakfast nicely this morning. Am going now to get something to eat after I burn some more money to live me all the

I can go with runs out. Some day you gave me the bills with it.

Had Money on Person

Brawn had $315 in currency and $4 in silver when his clothes were searched at the morgue. He also had a membership card from the lodge of Moose in Medford, Ore.

The house which Brawn refers to in his letter is at 2442, Twenty-third avenue, Oakland. He and a woman who said by the neighbors to be his wife, have made their home there since last February.

Mrs. Mary Amelia Brawn, referred to in the man's letter, is an employee of the H. C. Capwell Company. When informed of Brawn's death she said it was inconceivable that he could have committed suicide.

She had seen him last on Saturday, Mrs. Brawn said, and at that time made an engagement to meet him the following afternoon. She waited for him several hours Sunday afternoon, and when he failed to appear, thought that he had taken a trip to Sacramento, which he had been planning.

The woman said she was Brawn's wife. She said she had posed as a single woman while working in the Capwell store because it was easier than to explain why she had not been living with her husband.

Brawn was inclined to gamble and spend his money recklessly, she said, and it was over that trait of his that they had had their only disagreement, she having refused to live with him until he mended his spendthrift ways. He returned from Alaska in October, she said, and they decided to purchase a home. They bought the house on Twenty-third avenue and the money found on Brawn's body was to have been paid to the bank on the mortgage she said.

Mrs. Brawn identified the body as that of her husband. She told Deputy Coroner A. P. Smiley that all of Brawn's relatives were living in the east. Mrs. Brawn said:

"We were married in Watsonville several years ago. We then went to Alaska. I returned two years ago and Brawn returned about six months ago. My husband has been suffering from ill-health for a number of months.

"The police are investigating the case for a possible murder clew.

HORRORS OF WAR LINGER WITH US

Ralph E. Garr of Fairfax Kills Lad of 3 in Insane Fit Caused by Shell Shock

San Francisco.—His reason suddenly unbinged as the result of shell shock sustained two years ago in the Argonne Forest, Ralph E. Garr, recently discharged from the United States Army, shot and killed his three-year-old son, Ralph E. Garr Jr., Tuesday afternoon, June 15, in a vegetable patch near Fairfax, Marin county, and then turned the pistol on himself, inflicting a wound that probably will prove fatal.

The tragedy came with stunning force to neighbors of the Garrs, who said that Garr and his wife were ideally happy.

Garr's wife, who is critically ill in the Lane Hospital, this city, following the birth of a daughter the same day was not informed of the tragedy lest the shock prove fatal to her.

Neighbors assumed the care of another son of Garr, a baby boy of 1 year.

The tragedy proved pitiable to those neighbors who saw Garr departing from his little home, laughing and playing with his son along a roadway. Garr was seen to walk up a hill with the boy and after a long tramp, returned home. Garr remained in his home only a few minutes. Neighbors saw him leave again with the boy.

Instead of taking to the road again Garr led his son into a vegetable patch only a few rods from his home. Two small boys said they saw Garr take an Army pistol from his pocket and shoot the boy in the back of the head without uttering a word.

The boy died instantly. Transfixed with terror the witnesses saw Garr place the pistol to his head and pull the trigger. The boys ran screaming to the home of Mrs. James Roland. Mrs. Roland ran to the vegetable patch to find the boy dead and Garr unconscious.

Garr was taken to the San Rafael sanatorium. Physicians said that Garr would die.

Deputy Coroner J. R. Keaton of Marin county, who took charge of the murdered boy's body, was unable to give a reason for the tragedy.

Garr has been a resident of Fairfax for many years. He enlisted in the Regular Army several years ago and saw service on the Mexican border. After the American Army returned from the border, Garr was mustered out of service, but enlisted from Fairfax when America plunged into the war against the

OREGON VOTERS URGE JOHNSON TO BOLT PARTY

5000 Sign Petition Asking Him to Run as an Independent

Portland.—More than 5000 signatures were secured to a petition circulated in Oregon, June 15 asking United States Senator Hiram Johnson to repudiate the platform adopted by the Republican National convention in Chicago and to announce himself as an independent candidate for the Presidency, according to a telegram sent to Senator Johnson by W. P. Adams, Portland attorney.

The telegram, addressed to Senator Johnson by W. P. Adams, and signed by Adams, says:

"Please be advised that in excess of 5000 signatures of voters of the State of Oregon urgently requesting you to repudiate the Chicago platform and announce yourself as an independent candidate for the Presidency have been secured the first day of circulation."

Adams said that he did not represent any Johnson organization that had heretofore existed, but that his telegram was sent in behalf of many supporters of Senator Johnson in the recent Oregon primary election.

"We heard that similar petitions were being circulated in New York," Adams said, "so we started them here in Portland today. So far the petitions have been circulated only in Portland, but we plan to send them throughout the State."

Adams said that he and the group with which he is connected will continue to circulate the petitions until Senator Johnson declares positively that he will not be a candidate for the Presidency on an independent ticket.

Infant Mortality Drops

Washington.—Infant mortality rates for 1919 decreased materially as compared with the four previous years, according to statistics compiled by the Census Bureau and made public today. Of the twelve largest cities in the birth registration area, seven showed decreases of from 8.5 to 23.4 per cent, while the highest increase was 3.6 per cent.

Central powers.

Garr was gassed and shell-shocked during the fierce fighting in the Argonne forest, a fact that he often spoke of to neighbors. Upon his discharge several months ago, Garr opened a barber shop and poolroom. He was prospering, according to neighbors, and his home life was happy until the black blight of tragedy stalked into it Tuesday afternoon.

MINNESOTA YANKS LYNCH NEGROES

5000 Duluth Citizens Take Three Men From Police and Hang Them

Duluth.—Three negroes were lynched, Tuesday night, June 15, by a mob estimated at 5000 persons, which overpowered the police, took possession of police headquarters and seized the negroes, who were held in connection with an attack on a young white girl.

The negroes were roustabouts with a circus that appeared here and the alleged attack on the seventeen-year-old white girl took place on the circus grounds.

The negroes hanged were Isaac McGhie, Elmer Jackson and Nate Green, all about 22 years old. They were lynched in the order named at 11:30 p. m., 11:38 p. m. and 11:45 p. m., respectively. All professed their innocence.

First indications the downtown district received of the trouble brewing came at 7 o'clock in the evening when trucks loaded with men dashed up and down the principal streets the men calling "for volunteers to avenge the wrong done the white girl."

There was ready response, and it was estimated that the mob numbered 5000 shortly after 8 o'clock. Then the storming of the jail began. The Police Station is located just west of the City Hall, between Superior street and Michigan street, with a front entrance on the former street, which is Duluth's main business thoroughfare, and a rear basement entrance on Michigan avenue.

On both streets the mob gathered, surging toward both front and rear entrances simultaneously. Word of its coming had reached the police, and preparations had been made to put up a fight with streams of water from fire hose.

The first concerted attack was made on the rear entrance. Near the building was a pile of bricks used on a construction job, and of this the mob took quick advantage. Bricks were sent flying through the windows and against the rear door, which finally gave in.

The mob let the mob into the basement, and as it started up the stairs to the first floor strong streams of water washed its members back.

Bricks again were brought into play, and as the battle raged at the rear of the building other members of the mob obtained a section of fire hose, made a connection at a hydrant and started an assault on the front entrance.

Here, too, the police were prepared to fight back the mob with water, and in the water duel that ensued, neither side had a marked advantage until the mob managed to cut the police hose. This caused a momentary retreat by the police and the mob began battering down the front door.

After entrance had been forced from the front, the police offered no further resistance, realizing that attempts to use firearms would turn the disturbance into a riot of even more serious proportions, and probably cause extensive loss of life.

Within the police station the mob faced two heavy steel doors, barring the way to the prisoners' cells. With a large timber the negroes were battered down after an hour's attack. It took only a few minutes to force open the cages and gain possession of the negro suspects.

On the second floor of the station a mock trial was held. The three negroes declared guilty were taken from the building to Second avenue east and First street, about one and a half blocks from the police station.

McGhie was the first to feel the noose. He cried for mercy, declaring he was innocent. Two Catholic priests called upon the crowd to let the law take its course, but their pleas went unheeded.

One priest, Father F. J. Howard climbed fifteen feet up an electric light pole and again pleaded with the mob to turn the negroes over to courts.

San Francisco.—Eric Pegel of this city, a field draughtsman in the U. S. Forest Service, was drowned while swimming at Modoc, according to word received at the home of the parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pegel, 366 Sixth avenue. Pegel was 22 years old, and had been in the forestry service for three years.

"But why should you wish to embrace me, sir?" asked the astonished hotel-keeper. "I do not understand."

"What of it? Simply zees, saire. It means zat I shall never, no nevaire, see you again."—London Tit Bits.

WORLD BANKERS TO PEK-IN CHINA

Meeting of European Financiers in New York Is Announced

New York.—The first organization meeting of the consortium for China, consisting of British, French, Japanese and American banking groups, will be held in New York the middle of September, it was announced in a statement given out here by Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co. Lamont has just returned from a four months' trip to the Orient as representative of an American banking group acting in conjunction with British and French financiers.

Until the arrival here of the British, French and Japanese banking groups for their first conference with the American financiers, Lamont said he did not expect to see any great activity in the way of loans to China.

"In view of recently quoted expressions on the State Department's knowledge of Far Eastern matters," he continued, "I am bound to say that I found out representatives there fully conversant with Japanese views and possessing a sympathetic understanding of such difficulties as are inherent in the situation. Our Ambassador there, Roland S. Morris, showed extraordinary courage in the negotiations to which I happened to be a party. Certainly the State Department in the last two years has been intelligent and consistent in carrying forward the organization of the new consortium the final formation of which is likely to bring the whole Far Eastern question at least one stage nearer solution."

"As to China, I am aware that many persons characterize it as a great disorganized almost chaotic people. No one can spend even the short time that I was in China without being deeply impressed with the industry and sobriety of that people, with the idealism of many of their leaders, with the growth of public opinion there, with the profound effort that is steadily being made to establish a central government that will function as well as the local governments function."

"The present Government at Peking, as everyone knows, is weak and inefficient. Yet if American people lend to the Chinese the capital and the aid material and spiritual, which the Chinese are so long for, and which they look to America to give them, we shall, I am confident, witness in the coming years the development of a great and powerful nation, whose admiration and warm friendship the United States can, if we bestow proper thought and effort upon the matter, secure for all time to come."

THIS JUDGE DON'T LIKE TO BE TEASED

Springfield, (Ohio).—Judge Frank W. Geiger of the Common Pleas Court issued a warning that women who apply for divorces in his court must be careful of their dress. The Judge told attorneys that "I don't care if it is as hot as—, these women have got to wear more clothes when they come into court. This thing of peek-a-boo waists and see-more-skirts has got to stop."

San Francisco.—Eric Pegel of this city, a field draughtsman in the U. S. Forest Service, was drowned while swimming at Modoc, according to word received at the home of the parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pegel, 366 Sixth avenue. Pegel was 22 years old, and had been in the forestry service for three years.

A Frenchman, guest at a London hotel, had just been presented with his bill. Though he was most indignant at its amount.

"I wish to see the proprietor," he exclaimed to the clerk.

In a moment the proprietor entered.

"The Frenchman was all smiles. 'Ah!' he exclaimed, 'I must embrace you!'

"But why should you wish to embrace me, sir?" asked the astonished hotel-keeper. "I do not understand."

"Look at zees bill!"

"Yes, your receipted bill. What of it?"

"What of it? Simply zees, saire. It means zat I shall never, no nevaire, see you again."—London Tit Bits.

SCHOOL DAYS

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

SHOW THE FLAG.

Show the flag and let it wave
As a symbol of the brave;
Let it float upon the breeze
As a sign for each who sees
That beneath it, where it rides,
Loyalty today abides.

Show the flag and signify
That it wasn't born to die;
Let its colors speak for you
That you still are standing true,
True in sight of God and man
To the work that flag began.

Show the flag that all may see
That you serve humanity.
Let it whisper to the breeze
That comes singing through the trees
That whatever storms descend
You'll be faithful to the end.

Show the flag and let it fly,
Cheering every passerby,
Men that may have stepped aside,
May have lost their old-time pride,
May behold it there and then
Consecrate themselves again.

Show the flag! the day is gone,
When men blindly hurry on
Serving only gods of gold,
Now the spirit that was cold
Warms again to courage fine,
Show the flag and fall in line!

Sober Second Thought!

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE impulses of our Nature do not lead us, they arouse us. And no man is fit to contend adequately for a Cause until he is thoroughly aroused. But to act upon FIRST impulses is an unwise and most disastrous policy. Halt your impulses with Sober Second Thought.

You will never lose anything by carefully thinking things over before you act. In fact, it is our Sober Second Thoughts that give us courage to carry through successfully what comes to us as necessary to be done. Cool heads are always wiser than hot heads. Halt your impulses with Sober Second Thought.

Most of the regrets of the world arise from important things done on impulse, which if but introduced at once to Sober Second Thought, would not have been done at all. Many a man has resigned a good position on impulse only to be left for months and years working up to where he left off. Sober Second Thought is a companion worth cultivating.

Halt your impulses with Sober Second Thought.

Famous Timepieces.

There is one timepiece in an eastern museum known as the "resurrection watch," because it has a standing figure whose outstretched arms designate the hours and minutes. Another has nine dials, two of which show the Persian calendar of twenty-nine days and the Arabic calendar of thirty days, beside others indicating the changes of the moon and astronomical phenomena. Watches that strike the hours and those with raised figures, which can be read in the dark, and others shaped after the form of musical instruments, skulls and books, bear testimony of the ingenuity, taste, religious and artistic feeling of the makers.

To Induce Sleep.

When one is overtired or worried and cannot sleep, being gently rubbed all over with a towel wrung out of salt water generally has the desired effect. Deep breathing in fresh air is also excellent.

Rann-dom Reels

By HOWARD L. RANN

BARNSTORMING

BARNSTORMING is a pastime of the crude and unrefined amateur actor who draws whatever salary is left after paying car fare to the next town and who welcomes any kind of applause, from fresh eggs to early vegetables.

Most of our barnstormers leap to the role in "St. Elmo" with so much success that they are often confused for the real article. They have a very complex and exhausting life, as they are obliged to get up at noon, dress carefully for the parade, learn which side of the stage to come in on, and strangle the English language throughout the evening performance.

There is quite a little acting concealed on the barnstorming circuit. Some of it is concealed so successfully that the audiences remonstrate by decorating the drop curtain with floral tributes in the form of cabbage and pink carrots. Every barnstormer expects some day to make E. H. Sothern look like the end man in a home talent minstrel. To that end, he memorizes Marc Antony's oration between meals and cultivates a stage stride which is a cross between the stilt-walking crane and a cripple with a club foot.

In some localities which never have a chance to see the drama except when somebody in a touring car runs over a setting hen, the barnstormer is welcomed as a refreshing change from pitching quarts and betting on the duration of the Mexican war. It must be admitted, however, that not all of the barnstorming now in progress takes place in the rural precincts. A pretty fair imitation can occasionally be found in theaters which set a man back $4 for the family circle. This tends to prove that true merit often goes unrecognized, while a superior quality of nonchalant nerve gets the coin.

He Was Handicapped

A small boy and girl were each striving to outdo the other in an argument, and in spite of her endeavor, he was winning. Then inspiration came.

"Well, anyway, my father's taller'n yours," she asserted triumphantly.

He dug his toes in the sand. Undoubtedly his father was a very small man. Suddenly he straightened. A look of triumph flashed from his eyes.

"Humph. My father 'ud be twice as tall as yours, but his spindlers hime him down."—Harper's Magazine.

Obstacles Overcome

It was a dark night and the car was speeding homeward at a terrible rate.

"What road have you taken, James?" cried Mrs. Blithers, as the car jolted her high in the air.

"The regular boulevard, Mrs. Blithers," returned the chauffeur.

"But I never noticed all these thank-you-marks on the boulevard before," protested Mrs. Blithers.

"Oh," laughed the chauffeur, "those were not thank-you-marks, Mrs. Blithers! They were just a few people who couldn't get out of the way."

Whereupon Mrs. Blithers laughed, too. What a droll mistake it was, to be sure!—Pittsburgh Sun.

FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1920

IS THE PUBLISHER AND PRINTER "GETTING HIS?"

Almost everything one purchases today is from 200 to 300 per cent higher than two or three years ago. Food, clothing, shoes—there is nothing "cheap" nowadays.

Paper has aeroplaned to prices that have put a crimp in the country publisher's and printer's income, the net profit being almost nil. The margin he should have above running expenses, deterioration of plant and overhead is absorbed by the pay roll, which must be met, and which from a wage standpoint does not measure up with many of the unskilled laborers who receive from 6 to 10 dollars per day.

Why the printer or publisher should not receive a fair profit on his product as do other manufacturers, may be "apologized" for in stating that the consumer can do without printing or newspapers—that it is sort of a luxury, not necessary "to sustain life."

Subscription rates have been advanced slightly. No country newspaper has ventured to double advertising rates. The same old rate prevails for legal advertising. There is nothing in the rate schedule suggestive of wartime prices, as is the case in every other line.

Notwithstanding these facts, publishers are frequently charged with grafting, profiteering and "collusion," of forming combinations to exploit the much abused taxpayers and "politicians," and of "trimming" the dear public in general.

This is all wrong, and such criticism should immediately be abolished, especially by "candidates for public preferment."

The arch trimmers of the times are the brigandiers who are exacting toll for the necessities of life.

The newspapers published by the country printers are the most effective weapons to clear the decks of these pirates who have cornered the markets. Four pounds of sugar for a dollar. Potatoes at $10 per sack, are two samples of "collusion" among the profiteers which need attention. Not the publishers and printers who seek to raise the standard a few notches by co-operating for living rates that they and their skilled employees may in turn receive a living wage, equal to that of the common laborer.

CONGRESSMEN TO COME WEST ON WORTHY MISSION

Four hundred congressmen are coming west to take a look at the great area of desert land accessible to the waters of the Colorado river for irrigation purposes. If favorably impressed with the possibilities of irrigation in reclaiming millions of acres of western waste land, five hundred millions of dollars may be spent on western power and irrigation development.

The building of dams and reservoirs, power lines, and ditches, will relieve the labor condition when the slump comes, which it is said will be due before many months.

All the western states, and especially California, will be greatly benefited by the conservation of the flood waters in bringing the great body of desert lands into production.

Gets Bad Check

Mrs. Mary Mathews of Baltimore, formerly of this city, requested the police to locate C. O. Bailey, formerly of 903 Neilson street, Albany, who she says gave her a worthless check for $20 in making change for her moving bill. Bailey could not be located by the police.—Berkeley Gazette.

Passing of Pioneer Woman

Mrs. Sarah Crouch, sister of Mrs. Fanny Tenney passed away in San Francisco June 14th after an illness of several months. Mrs. Crouch was 84 years of age and the eldest in the family. Mrs. Tenney, the youngest, is now the only one of the large family left.

The parents were pioneers, coming west in the early days when Mrs. Tenney was an infant in arms of only 4 months. Mrs. Crouch was buried June 17th in the Evergreen cemetery.

Maccabee Benefit Whist

The committee on arrangements for the Maccabee whist tournament to be held Wednesday night, June 30, met Monday night and completed the arrangements for this important social event.

The Maccabees contemplate buying a lot and building thereon a hall, thereby changing from tenant to landlord.

"What you need is more exercise." "More exercise, doctor! Why, man, I still take 102 strokes every time I play a round of golf."—Detroit Free Press.

"Do you believe in miracles?" "Certainly, I do. My husband asked me this morning if I did not need a new hat."
